

Kahoot.com – Learning based quizzes play as a team all you need is a phone or computer

Epic Reading – On line reading site

Studyladder – All curriculum NZ based and levelled – you can set up a classroom and set tasks for the children at their levels and monitor their progress. Nice avatars and desktop for kids.

Sumdog – Evidence based – Math – the algorithm targets weakness the participant’s maths – also does English and reading. Currently free for schools

Brainpop – Videos all subjects all levels – quizzes and worksheets. Currently free has a junior section and a senior section.

Kahn Academy – great for secondary school and intermediate or university study or kids who have particular interests. Video lessons and activities’ in every subject area you can think of.

Read theory – Kind of like SRA – tests the kids and then provides text at their level. Is American so content can be a little random but pretty good. You can set it up as a class and monitor progress.

Enchanted Learning – if parents have a printer available this can be great.

Pobble - This provides writing prompts which are great.

<http://www.mathematicshed.com/> - The ultimate maths linking resource. Resources you can print and links to other websites.

Literacy Shed – Links to literacy sites and resources

Mathletics – an oldie but a goodie

Reading Eggs- reading interactive –

Crash Course – This is a favourite of mine – every subject imaginable and you tube videos that accompany them. Mini teaching sessions. All levels of kids enjoy this.

PEEP and the Big Wide World is a fun and interactive educational site for three- to five-year-olds.

Sorry I could not link it my server blocks it. LOL

Switch Zoo - animals and games quite fun

Bubblesphere – It not high tech looking but the site is owned and operated by none other than ‘Professor Bubbles’ himself. The bubblesphere site is full of recipes for making large and fantastic bubbles or a slew of tiny ones. Kids can experiment and post their experiences in the forum. Kids can add their own recipes, while learning to mix and make bubbles of all kinds. Children can also track the adventures of Professor Bubbles around the world.

<https://www.kodable.com/> - this site is great if you have kids keen on coding and programming.

Funbrain – mixture of educational games for different age groups. Unfortunately cannot link blocked by my server.

4kidz.org - Free easy online games for special needs children. Sorry cannot link blocked by my server.

Dance Kids Typing – The accent in this is hilarious Kids get to learn the ‘dance moves’ from a wise old billy goat and his mates. Kids learn by watching the screen instead of their hands as they learn to type.

Little fingers story Book – reading site.
